CD, digital download and streaming releases available Tuesday, November 4, 2014!

"Ambitious Pop..." "Standout band..." -Bret Milano, Boston Globe

"...elusive talent of writing catchy pop without letting terminal blandness set in" -Carter Alan

"...skippy beat and an understated instrumental approach...captures your attention" -Rachel Michaud, Sweet Potato

Doug Osborne - Songs, Vocals, Guitar

Stephen Wild - Bass, Vocals

Liz DiSessa - Drums

Serious Fun is releasing its first new material since the release of the Boston Rock & Roll Anthology, Vol 4 on VAR International. Following up on the success of Pasted on Pout and Arrest My Heart from that LP, the band has released newly remastered versions of the original mixes of Cambridge Nights, Arrest My Heart and Pasted On Pout as digital only singles. They are followed by this EP of previously unreleased mixes of seven high-energy songs.

With Doug Osborne on guitar and vocals, Stephen Wild on bass, and Liz DiSessa on drums, Serious Fun blazed a trail through the clubs of Boston such as The Paradise, The Rat, and Bunrattys. Their music was played on WBCN, WFNX and WERS, and was high on the CMJ charts. They recorded the basic tracks for these songs at Baker Street Studios in Watertown with Andy Mendelson.

Doug Osborne is releasing these singles and the Serious Fun EP in time for his live solo dates in the Los Angeles area. Doug plans to tour to support the release next year of his solo album, tentatively titled Love Takes a Long Time. The Serious Fun releases will fit on modern Rock radio formats with its unique blend of high energy music, blazing guitar, and heartfelt lyrics.
